Abstract: Chemistry Europe is a partnership of 16 European chemical societies countries including the Czech Chemical Society (ČSCH) who are nurturing a family of high-quality chemistry journals such as Chemistry – A European Journal. The talk will provide insights into the day-to-day work of the editors of Chemistry – A European Journal

The talk will provide insights into the day-to-day work of the editors of Chemistry – A European Journal and its sister journals, which goes beyond handling submitted manuscripts and managing the peer review process. The talk will also touch on questions such as: How do editors deal with unethical behaviour? Is the Impact Factor a measure of quality, and what is the meaning of a citation anyway? Why are there more and more open access publications? And ultimately, how do I get my paper published in a journal of Chemistry Europe?
