Admission requirements for the master’s study programme at the Charles University Faculty of Science for the academic year 2020/2021

The admissions procedure starts with a submission of a properly completed application for study and payment of the application fee by 29 February 2020.

Admission requirements

- Completion of at least a bachelor’s university degree with a proof provided by 30 September 2020. Applicants who pass the final exam in the autumn term and the applicants who have to wait for a recognition of their studies abroad have to present a document about their bachelor degree by 22 October 2020. The applicants who hold a bachelor degree from a Czech university have provide a registered copy of a diploma or an original copy of a proof that they have obtained a bachelor’s degree (in case they still do not have their official diploma). This requirement does not apply to the applicants who have obtained their bachelor’s degree at Charles University. The applicants who hold a degree from a university abroad have to provide a proof of their education in one of the ways described at this website: https://www.natur.cuni.cz/fakulta/uchazeci/nostrifikace/nostrifikace-pro-uchazece-do-magisterskeho-a-doktorskeho-studia
- Pass the admission exam (if the exam had not been waived)
- The applicants are admitted for a study programme according to their ranking at the admission exam (number of points). The point limit for admission is determined by the faculty’s dean taking into account the number of applicants and the capacities of the faculty.
- In case there are only few applicants, the dean can, with the approval of the section subject-area board, waive the admission exam and accept all the applicants who hold the degree required.

Application for study and application fee

The application is submitted electronically via the study information system (SIS) of Charles University (https://is.cuni.cz/studium/prijimacky). The application needs to be submitted electronically by 29 February 2020. The e-mail and password used for the submission of the application stay the same throughout the whole admission procedure.

It is necessary to submit one application for each study programme.

The admission fee is 760 CZK and it is paid for each application submitted. The fee must be paid by 29 February 2020.

Admission examination

Regular date: 15–19 June 2020
Alternative date: 29 June 2020

Invitations to the admission exam are only sent electronically through the university’s electronic information system and no later than 30 days before the exam date. If the faculty sends an invitation for an alternative exam date, this period may be shortened accordingly.

Admission exams on an alternative date may only be permitted by the dean for applicants who request an alternative date at least three days before the regular examination date. Only serious reasons, primarily health-related, are considered for an alternative date. Other reasons include study abroad constituting preparation for university study – i.e. graduate or study examinations held from 15 to 19 June 2020. The request must be duly substantiated in writing and the circumstances in the request must be documented. Other alternative dates are not permitted. The application is submitted and handled through the university’s electronic information system.

An applicant may request modification of the admission exam due to a medical handicap, including specific learning disorders. The request must state the specific modification requirements for the admission exam and must be documented with a medical report or statement from a relevant specialist facility. The dean decides on the request. If the request is deemed unsubstantiated, the dean may request additional or more detailed documentation. Such request is submitted and handled through the university’s electronic information system and must be submitted by 31 March 2020.

Any such claim is not taken into account if made retroactively, e.g. during an appeals process.

Description of the admission exam

- The admission exam is a single-round exam in form of an oral interview.
- The subjects and scope of admission exams are specified in the overviews of study programmes and fields of study.
- During the admission exam, the applicant presents a transcript of the courses completed during previous studies, including the results.
- Each examin is assessed with a maximum of 100 points.
Viewing of a personal file

After notification of the dean’s decision regarding the outcome of the admission process, the applicant is entitled to view his/her file. The administrative and organizational conditions for viewing are determined by the dean.

Choosing a specialization for a study programme
